Taxi Regulation (Maximum Fares) Order 2022, commencement date 01 September 2022

1.0 Introduction

The current Maximum Fares Order is provided for in the Taxi Regulation (Maximum Fares) Order 2017 (S.I. 458 of 2017). Following a full review of the existing National Maximum Taxi Fare, the Board of the National Transport Authority (NTA) has approved a proposal to revise the Maximum Fares Order under section 24 of the consolidated Taxi Regulation Acts 2013 and 2016. This document has been prepared to allow relevant parties to submit updated taximeter programs for approval by the NSAI Legal Metrology Service. It is recommended that taximeters should be programmed for the maximum duration possible but for a minimum of two years and six months.

Each taxi or wheelchair accessible taxi licence holder is required to have his or her taximeter calibrated in accordance with the relevant maximum fare order within a period of 21 days from the date on which the maximum fares order comes into operation – 01 September 2022.

This document provides technical guidance to taximeter programmers, installers, and other interested parties in relation to taximeter and other related information. It should be noted that this explanatory leaflet is designed to give practical guidance in relation to the programming of the national maximum taxi fare that is given effect by regulation. It does not purport to be a legal interpretation of the relevant legislation. Furthermore, the information in this document is provided in good faith. Whilst NTA has taken great care in deriving this information it does not accept any liability or consequential loss for errors or omissions.

Copies of this document, but also other information on the National Maximum Taxi Fare, including a general explanatory guide, are available from NTA's website at www.nationaltransport.ie, or on request via NTA's Industry Information Line on 0818 064 000.

2.0 An Overview of the Programmed Fare

In Ireland, taximeters charge on the basis of distance or time, based on a set changeover speed. All metered components of the fare are calculated and displayed in advance.

The structure of the fare includes an initial charge that contains both a time and distance allowance. Further travel beyond the initial charge is based on a graduated structure of two rates. Short journeys are subject to Tariff A, the lowest rate. For medium and long length journeys, the latter stage of the trip is charged at a higher rate: Tariff B.

A standard rate structure operates by day, while a premium rate is attached to travel during unsocial hours and on most public holidays. A special third rate applies over Christmas and the New Year. Certain extras may also apply, two of which are recorded on the meter (those relating to additional passengers and any booking fee).

A table illustrating the main components of the fare structure and rates is provided below. The presentation of the fare below should not be used for programming. The technical appendices to this document provide schedules on the appropriate parameters for meter programming purposes.

Distance Rate applies unless speed drops below 21km/hr when time rate applies	A special premium rate applies between Christmas Eve 20:00h to St. Stephen's Day 08:00h and New Year's Eve 20:00h to New Year's Day 08:00h. This rate is displayed as "3" on the meter. During these periods a tariff equal to Premium Rate Tariff B is applied immediately after the Premium Rate Initial Charge.

3.0 Guidelines

In addition to recording and displaying the appropriate fare, there are other obligations on taxi-operators that relate to the programming of the meter:

3.1 Change of hours from Summer Time to Winter Time and vice versa

The change of hours from Summer Time to Winter Time and vice versa is to be observed on all meters. The calendar dates for the daylight savings time changeovers are shown in the appendices.

3.2 The application of Extra charges

The meter should be set to allow charges to be added, in units of €1.00, to a maximum of €9.00. This equates to the maximum extras that can be charged on the meter under the National Maximum Taxi Fare structure based on a journey involving a booking fee and seven additional adult passengers, where the vehicle is licensed to carry up to 8 persons, the maximum permissible. It should be possible for the driver to remove any extras applied in error from a particular fare.

3.3 Minimum information for inclusion on the mandatory printed receipt

Under current regulations it is an offence for a taxi driver not to provide a receipt to all taxi customers on payment of the taxi fare in the format prescribed below. Printers should therefore be set to automatically print a receipt for all taxi journeys. Taxi receipts should print the following information as a minimum:

- 1 The receipt number (this should be sequential)
- 2 The SPSV licence number;
- 3 The unique vehicle identifier (registration number)
- 4 The start date of the trip;
- 5 The distance travelled in kilometres, preferably to 2 decimal places, e.g. 4.22 km;
- 6 The start and finish time of the trip, preferably in hours, minutes and seconds;
- 7 The amount calculated by the meter (broken down into total fare and extras), and
- 8 A space highlighted for the manual recording of tips/discounts/tolls, e.g.

Tips / discounts / tolls: _____

A space to allow calculation of final amount paid (to allow deduction of discounts or addition of tips or tolls) may be added to the receipt if desired, for example:

Total paid: _____

The National Transport Authority may require certain information to be pre-printed on the back of receipt paper-rolls in the future. For this reason, printers must not be programmed to automatically print information on the back of the receipt.

3.4 The Application of Different Rates

Taximeters should charge on the basis of distance or time, based on the specified changeover speed. All metered components of the fare are calculated and displayed in advance.

One of three different basic rate structures can be applied at a given time, based on the time of day and/or the day itself.

1. Standard Rate: The standard rate operates during the daytime from 08.00 to 20.00 on Monday to Saturday during a normal week
2. Premium Rate: The premium rate applies between the hours of 20.00 and 08.00 Monday to Saturday, and all day on Sundays during a normal week. It also applies all day on Public Holidays and on occasion, certain days close to Public Holidays.
3. Special Tariff for Christmas and New Year: The special rate, that is higher in value than the Premium Rate, applies for Christmas Day and New Year's Eve. This rate applies from 20.00 hours on Christmas Eve 24th December through to St. Stephen’s Day 26th December at 08.00 hours; and again from New Year’s Eve 31st December at 20.00 hours through to New Year’s Day 1st January on 08.00 hours.

The appendices to this document contain a detailed table outlining the policy to be followed in the application of the Premium Rate to Public Holidays and the special rate for Christmas and New Year for the period June 2022 - October 2027. The treatment of weekdays falling immediately after a weekend within which the actual public holiday falls is also specified.

Note that from 2023, there will be a new permanent public holiday established in celebration of Imbolc/St Brigid’s Day. This will be the first Monday in every February, except where St. Brigid’s Day, the 1st day of February, happens to fall on a Friday, in which case that Friday 1 February will be a public holiday. This new holiday was only recently announced in January 2022. As a result, existing calendar programs in taximeters, do not contain this new holiday from the year 2023 onwards, and care should be taken to ensure that any existing calendar years in the program are revised to include it.

The NTA will review the National Maximum Taxi Fare approximately every two years; however no assumption should be made as to whether or not the fare will change resulting from any such review. Therefore, the meter should be programmed for the maximum duration possible, to include the public holiday of October 2027 if feasible.

Display in the Tariff/Rate Window

NTA is aware that, historically, programmers adopted different practices in what digits or letters are displayed in the Tariff/Rate window so as to indicate which fare or element of a fare is being applied at a given point in a journey. This practise must be standardised using the following convention.

The rate applied (Standard; Premium; or Christmas & New Year) is indicated by the numbers 1, 2 and 3 respectively for the full length of the journey. The Tariff (A or B) of mileage thereafter is not displayed: only the rate. The Rate (Tariff) window should therefore display as shown in the table below, at each stage of the journey.

Table 3.1: Display Convention of the Rate (Tariff) Window

	Standard	Premium	Christmas & New Year
Initial Charge	1	2	3
Rate A	1	2	3
Rate B	1	2	Not Applicable

Convention when moving between the operating periods of different rates

1. Charges change from Standard to Premium table rates and vice versa mid-trip except for during the Initial Charge.
2. Except for the Initial Charge, when evening time (20.00h) triggers the change from Standard to Premium table rates, the meter should operate on the corresponding table, based on the running fare total.
3. When morning time (8.00h) triggers the change from Premium to Standard table rate, vice versa as in 2 above.
4. A similar practice is followed for the Christmas & New Year tariff.

Note: The values given in the tables in the technical appendices do not take account of changing from one tariff table to another.

4.0 Necessity for re-programming of National Maximum Taxi Fare

It is a legal requirement that all licensed taxi vehicles are equipped with a taximeter which has been programmed with the current fare and other mandatory information as outlined in this document. The Maximum Fares Order has tariffs which vary by the time of day and by the day of the year; this requires that daylight saving time and public holidays are accounted for by the taximeter.

NTA requires that taximeters should be programmed for at least two years and six months in advance, but ideally for the maximum duration possible. For this reason, details of both public holidays and the changes for daylight saving until October 2027 have been included in this document.

A facility for manual intervention by the driver to select an appropriate tariff once a program has expired is not acceptable.

Further updated programmes should be correctly coded so as to provide a different checksum total to that pertaining to any existing programme. The purpose of this is to clearly identify updated versions of a programme.

Furthermore, updated programmes will have a “valid until” date after which they will no longer be accepted for verification in a vehicle. This “valid until” date must be visible in the software when submitted to NSAI Legal Metrology Service for programme approval: it does not need to be capable of being displayed directly on the taximeter. The “valid until” date will depend upon the latest programmed calendar date where the taximeter follows the correct fare as exemplified in Table A5. A programme becomes invalid immediately prior to the time of a daylight saving or a public holiday that has been omitted from the programme. For example, if the last programmed public holiday date is 6th May 2024, then the “valid until” date is 2nd June 2024 as the meter will fail to apply the appropriate premium for the next public holiday on the 3rd June 2024.

5.0 Testing and verification of new meter programmes

NTA has worked closely with the NSAI Legal Metrology Service to ensure the technical guidelines provided in this information sheet are in compliance with the NSAI Legal Metrology Service's current and anticipated regulations to support national and European statutory requirements. Once a meter seal has been broken for any reason, including re-programming, it is a statutory obligation that the meter be verified as soon as reasonably possible thereafter.

Taxi operators are responsible under the Metrology Acts 1996 to 2017 and associated regulations for ensuring that their taximeters, comply with the relevant requirements.

Compliance requires measuring instruments to be of an approved design and each individual taximeter must be tested to ensure it operates correctly within legal tolerances and requirements, a process called verification. On passing the verification test the taximeter is secured with tamper-evident security seals to prevent unauthorised access to its calibration settings. Taxi operators should ensure that re-verification is carried out following repair or adjustment of parts requiring the security seals to be broken.

Knowingly tampering with security seals and failing or neglecting to ensure compliance may result in prosecution.

Applus Car Testing Service Limited has been appointed by NSAI Legal Metrology Service to conduct Taximeter System Verification on their behalf for all small public service vehicles. They can be contacted as follows:
