Dylan Mellody-Kelly

Communications Executive at Q4PR

Dylan graduated with a degree in Corporate Law from the University of Galway and received a Master's in Strategic Communications & Public Relations from Dublin City University in 2023.

Dylan is a communications professional with experience across the public, cultural and community sectors. He joined Q4PR in 2024 where he has worked on strategic communications, media relations and stakeholder engagement.

At the National Transport Authority, Dylan plays a leading role in Active Travel communications, including producing the national Active Travel Newsletter, cross-departmental content coordination, and the management of major projects such as the Walking & Cycling Index and the Department of Transport's Active Travel video series. His work focuses on clear, creative storytelling that supports behaviour change and promotes sustainable mobility.

Dylan has also contributed to national media campaigns through roles with the Irish Museum of Modern Art and previously served as Public Relations & Events Officer for Na Gaeil Aeracha, Ireland's first LGBTQ+ GAA club. He brings a strong people-centred, evidence-based approach to communications and is committed to promoting accessible, inclusive and sustainable travel.
